LINCOLN'S MESSAGE TO THE MINERS

fax left Washington to cross the continent. As Mr. Lincoln bade .

"I want you to make a speech for me to the miners you may . . find on your journey. I have very large ideas of the mineral wealth . of our nation. I believe it is practically inexhaustible. It abounds . City for a time, where Mr. Givens all over the western country, from the Rocky mountains to the Pa. . suffered a breakdown from the incific, and its development has scarcely commenced. Now the rebel- & tense heat. Later they went to Inlion is over and we know pretty meanly the amount of our national . dianapolis, where he was obliged to debt, the more gold and silver we mine makes the payment of that • 50 to a hespital and had been condebt much easier. I am going to encourage that in every way, many have feared that their return home in such great numbers . this city received a letter from Mrs. might paralyze industry by suddenly furnishing a greater supply of . Givens, stating that they expected to laborers than there will be a demand for.

"I am going to try to attract them to the hidden wealth of our . mountain ranges, where there is room for all. Immigration, which . here · even the war has not stopped, will land upon our shores hundreds of . thousands more every year from overcrowded Europe. ASSESSABLE STOCKS ARE THE MEANS stocks. People there are who will signs of a better stock market in the have nothing but paid-up stocks. Yet the assessable stocks provide the ments of the fall, secessary means for the advancement of the mining industry.

Why are so many assessments being levied at this time, and what may be expected as a result? The answer to the first part of the question is easy. Those with stock to sell have found that the market was indeed unsatisfactory, Money for minourse is had to assessing the stocks to gain the necessary capital to go shead with development. Without seing able to assess, all would have had to reorganize, and reorganizaon is always expensive to the small kind of stock as to the other, ach the man of nerve and push to favorite for mining companies. As to results, we do not need so Office with Drs. Cunningham and for himself, climb on a pedestal and ever after refuse to assist small operations, as we need to have the rank and file of our citizens interested in mining pursuits, and to have ownership of properties in many hands. Conditions in many one-mine camps verify this contention. The first result, then, is a revival of interest in mines rather than in mining stocks. The many small contributions will be set at work in actual development. It is the multitude of small mines under develop ment that spells success for the mining industry, not the shining example of the big producers. Who can doubt that the small operators contribute as heavily to the progress of the state as the larger companies?

Mining activity goes in cycles. The large assessment roll for the present fall indicates a large amount of win ter work, and machinery sales are confirming the indications. From this work, the value of many stocks sessable stocks is the ease with which stockholders may be assessed brought into a few hands. It is just companies with paid-up stock, and velopment as those where holders are assessed out, in such a way that the property appears worthless and liquidation the only relief. Under liquidation proceedings it is just as easy to squeeze out the weak members as it is under assessment levies. So this
